History

Emily was the first born daughter of

Lisa (Bergman) and Ron Wells, and was diagnosed with Tay Sachs disease at the age of 14 months. Tay Sachs is a genetic, neurological disease that is fatal to children. The average life expectancy is 3-5 years. One in every 250 people are carriers of the Tay Sachs gene. Sadly, Emily succumbed to Tay Sachs on June 17th, 2001.

The Eagle for Emily Golf Outing was created to honor Emily's memory as well as raise money for National Tay Sachs and Allied Diseases, Inc. NTSAD was an incredible support system for Ron and Lisa as they struggled through Emily's journey.

Due to generous donations from people like you, the Wells family received funding to attend their first conference in Denver in 2001. It was the only conference Emily was able to attend. Because that conference was such a meaningful event,

Ron and Lisa have pledged to do the same for newly diagnosed families. Your contribution to Eagle for Emily will help them realize that goal.
